RETURNED to-day from a tour of Texas, going into the State at Texarkana, coming out by Galveston and Beaumont. Our Georgia farmers, if misery loves company, would feel encouraged if they knew the terrible condition of the farms and farmers in Texas and Louisiana. 1 have visited Texas almost every spring for many years, and I think the outlook there for corn, cotton and wheat is the mos discouraging I have eyer seen. Since the weather bureau began keeping the record this is the only April that no rain has fallen in Texas to amount to anything. Their black land is as hard as a brick now. Constant rain in the spring, then turned dry by the hot sun and winds, it plows up in clods almost as hard as bricks. Of course, in the sandy lands of Texas it is better. I didn't see a hundred acres of cotton up in Texas, I don't think, and corn is up, but looks sickly and small. Wheat, they say, is almost a total failure unless rain shall fall within ten days. Oats are in a worse condition. Yet, amid all, Texas forges ahead in many ways.

ing there Monday night. I had not been there since the great storm of September, 1900, but I tell you there's ife in the old land yet. Really Galeston is a more beautiful city to-day han eyer. It is one of the greatest caports in America, and I am told the largest cotton seaport in the world. he Southern Pacific has brought all heir ocean steamships from New York to Galveston. They formerly came from New York to New Orleans. The Southern Pacific railroad is spending two millions of dollars on their wharf

The thing that will bring confidence and promote growth to Galveston is the sea wall they are now building about half around the city, covering vas amazed as I looked upon that sea vall. They first drive down thirty feet iles or logs into the sand on the beach. Four rows of each, covering a width of bout 18 feet, then inside of the outside rows of piles they put down 4x2 imbers, twenty feet and then break he cracks in these timbers with 2x14 in bers, and then they begin to bed with cement and crushed rock combound, then build it up nearly 17 feet high. It is 17 feet at the base. It is carried up nearly straight on the in ide, the outside is a concave. The ides have never gone more than 14 eet high. This wall is 17 feet high vith a concave, throwing the water back as it dashes against the walls Outside of the walls they are placing thousands of loads of granite rock, weighing from a thousand pounds to tive tons. They are building that wall so that it will stay in spite of wind and ide. It will be about three miles long when the wall is finished, then they vill bank sand behind it on the inner ide in a gradual slope for sixty feet and make a beautiful driveway through. then Galveston can lie down and sleep a safety amidst the most terrible torms at sea. The city has voted and old bonds to the amount of a million and a half dollars for constructing this wall. A million dollars of the bonds vere taken by the citizens of Galveston t par. This is a wise and good inestment for the city, and I believe hat in fifty years from now Galyestor vill see that her investment in the se rall was the best she ever made. congratulated them on their courage and enterprise, and told them that the ity that could live through what they ad lived through was immortal. Galveston has more pluck and energy and lile to-day than ever before, and he will go on to greater growth and wider commercial influence. I would have liked to have spent a week there, or they are charming people.

None of them have ever been there before. Some of them will occupy the position in the future, but many will not be heard from again. But this need not mar anybody's pleasare now; let each one suppose that he will be the one heard from in the fuue; let the imagination have full sway, and let these happy commencement days fill the cup brim full.

To be permitted to take a course college is a distinction that few people enjoy, and those who are so fortunate as to do so, owe much to the world, to those less fortunate. From this class comes for the most part, the country's future leaders.

The business world is looking more equitable construction upon business relations and business complications. The demand for fully equipped teachers was never so universal before. Law, medicine, dentistry, in fact, all the professions, are demanding men of liberal culture in order that they may besome specialists of the highest order.

The luture of agriculture is to be no exception to this proposition. The subject of farming is now occupying the est minds of the country. These men ee clearly the need for young men to may comprehend agriculture in its highest and best sense. So, again we make our bow to the college graduate. He is the best product of this beautiful spring month, the month so full of ove, poetry and flowers.

SPERSONNE PRICOGERAL

An incident which may serve as an illustration of "horse sense" was witnessed by a number of Brooklyn genwho were on their way to the railroad station. When within a lew yards of the building they noticed a large gray If we like; whatever be our lot, we can horse belonging to a brewer, whose stables were in the rear of the depot. It was plain he had escaped from his stall, as the stableman was making vain efforts to catch bim.

He would not be caught. He had stolen a few minutes to cut up pranks in the snow, and with head up and into the air with his hind feet, and snorting with delight.

He was not alone in his enjoyment. A heautiful Scotch coline belonging to the same man, and no doubt the stable friend of the horse, joined in the fun, now jumping at the horse's mane, now at his tail. It lookbd for all the world like two schoolboys, overflowing with life and spirits, who had escaped from an overheated class-room and embraced the opportunity to frolic in the snow.

But the dog's pleasure was brought to a sudden end. The tron-shod beels flew out and met an unintentional victim. It was pitiful to hear the dog's moans of pain, as he lay in the snow ten feet away. The stableman ran forward and carried him into the office.

Then came the display of "horse sense." The old gray, when he heard the pitiful yelps, instantly stopped in his antics, and with neck extended and nose almost touching the ground, Tablets a trial, and you are certain to walked after the man, and stood motionless while the dog was laid on a blanket in the office; then he turned toward the stall. His gait was now as if he were drawing a heavy load. He looked neither to the right nor to the ieft, his head was lowered, his steps were slow and heavy. Sweeten Lite With Sentiment.

Commenting on Jeseph's journey to meet his father, when the old man was coming down to Egypt in the time of famine, Dr. Joseph Parker said :

"Yes, I do not care what our duties are, we can add a tittle pathos to them add a little sentiment to our life. And what is life without sentiment? What are the flowers without an occasional sprinkling of dew? It may be a grand thing to sit on a high stool and wait till the old man comes up stairs. But it is an infinitely grander thing, a 'lordiler chivalry,' to come off the stool mane flying, he was throwing the snow. and go away to meet him a mile or two on the road. Your home will be a better home-I do not care how poor-if you have a little sentiment in you, a little tenderness and nice feeling. Therare things that sweeten life. I do not want a man to wait until there is an earthquake in order that he may cal and say, 'How do you do?' I do not want a man to do earthquakes for me Somelimes I want a chair handed, and a door opened, and a kind pressure of the hand, and a gentle word. And as for the earthquakes, why-wait until they come !"

Mr. Joseph Pominville, of Stillwater, Minn., after having spent over $2,000 with the best doctors for stomach trouble, without relief, was advised by his druggist, Mr. Alex. The few minutes of fun have been the means of in- to line.
